What We Do

Terralec are able to offer a full installation service, which includes; Design, installation & product training, all backed up with full after care service. We have a wealth of experience in supplying and installing, audio, lighting and stage equipment into schools, theatres, places of worship & community halls to name just a few!

We understand that every customers needs are different and pride ourselves on achieving just what our clients are looking for. Our installation team have extensive product knowledge and because the majority of goods used are supplied direct from us, you can be confident that the team assisting you fully understand the products we recommend.

Our installation team are also responsible for the after care service. Should you require assistance, at any point after the installation, you will be able to speak directly to the team that carried out your install, giving you a very unique and personal service! We are also happy to work alongside contractors and local tradesman where required.

Product Training

We want our clients to be confident in operating and understanding any equipment that we have installed. We always give in depth training to as many people as you require. This will cover how the equipment works, the capabilities of the products selected and any health and safety issues you should be aware of. We don't just offer training to senior technicians, we are happy to give product tutorials to students, teachers, theatre groups, assistants and anyone who would like to get to know your new products better. This does not have to be at install stage. Terralec are happy to do focus groups and set training sessions with students and teachers at a time most suitable for you. We strongly believe this can assist in students learning, particularly those interested in theatrical studies. Training does not end after we leave! You can contact us anytime for a refresher course or for anything you may require help with. We can provide a wealth of information over the phone or will happily arrange another site visit to go through your equipment.

Simply Purchase

If you don't require any of the installation or training services, then our straightforward purchasing process could be for you. We are still on hand to guide you through what you may need and can arrange bespoke quotations as required. Products can be purchased direct from our website, by email or telephone.
